

Sustainer Learning Circle: Overview

Sustainer Learning Circle (SLC) is a twelve month circle comprising four grassroots organizations in New England who are committed to leveling up their monthly donor programs. SLC members meet together to build community, learn and share best practices, develop a unique sustainer strategy, and support each other to implement the plan. Each organization accesses a stipend and a matching fund to incorporate into their strategy. The circle is facilitated by grassroots fundraising coaches with experience building successful sustainer programs.

Why focus on monthly donor programs?

There are one-time donors, and then there are sustainers (monthly donors). Sustainers give more and for longer, their contribution can be relied on, and they are more likely to engage in the organization's work beyond the gift. In recent years, online giving platforms have made it far easier for small organizations to maintain monthly donor programs, and a growing number of donors prefer it. A solid sustainer program will increase a small organization's resources, independence and sustainability.

Testimony from our Pilot Sustainer Learning Circle with Providence Youth Student Movement, Resist, Southern Maine Workers Center, and Student Immigrant Movement:

- This was a great process for us to be involved in. I'm appreciative of all the collective expertise. It was helpful to have the accountability of a group to move this work forward.
- With the economic impacts right now, it's more than necessary to be sustained by the people rather than solely foundations.
- This circle helped me put an organizer's lens on fundraising.
- Most of all we benefited from the community. Being able to talk with groups about fundraising challenges, groups who also believe in abolition--that's a first.
- SLC helped me understand how to use donor data and translate it for my board, staff and youth.
- Knowing there were matching funds made it feel like whatever investment we could make would be worth it.
- Transactional versus transformative. Solidarity versus charity. We are building more than just donations.

Our 2022 cohorts include: Alliance of Rhode Island Southeast Asians for Education (ARISE), Alliance to Mobilize Our Resistance, Beantown Society, Black Portland Organizers Working to End Racism (Black POWER), Boston Ujima Project, Center for Cooperative Development and Solidarity, Direct Action for Rights & Equality (DARE), Dudley Street Neighborhood Initiative, Granite State Organizing Project (GSOP), Greenroots, Make the Road Connecticut, Neighbors United for a Better East Boston, New Hampshire Youth Movement (NHYM), Northeast Farmers of Color Land Trust, Pa'lante Restorative Justice, Presente! Maine, Students for Educational Justice, and The Root Social Justice Center.

Sustainer Learning Circle: Overview

What to expect from participating in an SLC?

- Seven sessions over twelve months, 1.5-2 hours per session
- Coaching sessions with circle facilitators
- 2-3 designated participants from each org (staff, board or member-leaders welcome)
- Matching funds to support your recruitment of new sustainers
- Organizational stipend to cover staff capacity dedicated to the circle
- Guidance on developing your sustainer program plan to include giving infrastructure, community building, recruitment and retention of sustainers
- Community, encouragement, and connection with other grassroots fundraisers

Who is a good fit to participate?

- Organizations with
 - excitement about shifting non-profit fundraising paradigms to build power, movement and sustainability
 - staff or member capacity to participate in a monthly conversation and do planning and implementation in between
 - small (5-20 monthly donors) or medium (20-60 monthly donors) sized sustainer program who are motivated to build the program to the next level
- We want to prioritize Sustainer Learning Circles for groups who are based in New England with leadership from historically exploited communities, building power through community organizing, and with a current budget between $50-$500K.

How is it funded?

Participating organizations do not pay to participate in SLC. Instead, they receive a stipend to honor the capacity and experience they commit to the circle and a matching fund to use in their sustainer program plan. We seek to pair interested organizations with funding partners who want to support the organization's long term sustainability through grassroots fundraising. An investment made for an organization to participate in SLC will result in a more than 100% return over a two-year period when sustainer program plans are implemented. The cost per organization averages $10,000, which includes the following:

- Matching funds: $5,000
- Stipend for participation: $2,000
- Coordination, facilitation and coaching: $3,000

How do we get involved?

Complete this interest form by August 22, 2022. New SLCs will begin in March, 2023. Selection is based on funding availability and input from core ROP partners, and we prioritize small New England-based community organizing groups that are BIPOC, working-class, and LGBTQ led. We focus on organizations using basebuilding and solidarity economy strategies.
